Mount Rainier

I feel the gentle breeze of spring;
I see the birds on joyful wing;
I catch a glimpse of towering snow
At eventide—'Tis all aglow.

As from the setting sun there shines
A radiance on the swaying pines,
That, mingled with the fir and oak,
Are gathered round her like a cloak—

My heart is stirred too deep for words;
My thoughts go soaring with the birds,
As toward her shining peak they ply
Their tireless way through twilight sky.

The gold has changed to purplish snow;
All nature is at rest I know,
And from my lips escapes a cheer
Of love and joy for Mount Rainier.

—ALICE METCALF '56

DR. and MRS. R. W. FOWLER
